

GARTH AND MAUD HUDSON

"He reaches all the way back to the ancient beginnings of music and incorporates all that embraces the music of the future."

He toured Southern Ontario, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Texas in the early '60s with Ronnie Hawkins. Garth and bandmates soon became Bob Dylan's band on his first worldwide electric tour. The Dylan years lead The Band to relocate to Woodstock, New York in the late '60s. The Band's first release, Music from Big Pink, was critically acclaimed as one of the most influential records in rock history. You will hear Garth's wizardry on Norah Jones's Feels Like Home, on Hal Willner's tribute to Charlie Parker Bird Up, the Gipsy Kings' Roots, Los Lobos' Ride, and Neko Case's Fox Confessor Brings the Flood. He contributed unheard tracks from his personal vault to Capitol Records' six-disc The Band: A Musical History box set. Garth and Maud have released their duo CD, LIVE at the WOLF, as well as Garth's CD of Music For Our Lady Queen Of The Angels. He recently recorded at Daniel Lanois' Toronto studio for Daniel's latest album Here Is What Is as well as appearing in Daniel's Feature Film of the same name.
